

The Message For June 27-July 3, 2007

Writer's Workshop in Cavendish

The Third Annual Writer's Workshop will be held at the Cavendish Inn Historic Glimmerstone Mansion at 1589 Main Street in Cavendish on three Mondays, July 2, 9, and 16 from 1 to 3 p.m.

Marjory Lyons, Ph. D., will conduct the workshop. The format is a series of writers' critique sessions in which writers read their work in a round-robin fashion. Positive, constructive critiques are provided by the instructor and the other writers.

Participants may revise their work following the group's suggestions, with the ultimate goal that of publication.

Lyons is a published author, retired college instructor, and owner of Telling Your Story, Inc., a memoir-writing business. A member of the Independent Book Publishers Association, the Florida Publishers Association, and the National League of American Pen Women, Lyons conducts writing seminars in Fort Lauderdale, Arizona and Vermont.

She holds regular, weekly writers' critique sessions in Fort Lauderdale.

The workshop is open to writers of fiction and non-fiction of all ages. Writers should bring four copies of their work in double-spaced, typed or word processed form.

Cost for the writers' critique sessions is $18 per session. Advance registration is required. Call Marjory Lyons at 954-249-1333 or 226-7080.

